

PRESIDENT ASKS HELP OF CONGRESS

yet all shall be forgot but he'll remember with ages what fate did that day."

What we all thank God for with deepest gratitude is that our men were forced to the last battle line at the critical moment, the whole fate of the world seemed to hang in the balance and threw their fresh strength into the ranks of freedom in time to turn the whole tide and sweep of the fatal struggle—turn it at once for all so that thence forth it will back, back, back for their enemies, always back, never again forward.

After that it was only a scant four months before the commanders of the central empires knew themselves beaten and how their very empire are in liquidation.

And throughout it all how fine the spirit of the nation was; what unity of purpose, what untiring zeal and elevation of purpose ran through all its manifold displays of strength, its untiring accomplishments. I have said that those of us who stayed at home to do the work of organization and supply will always wish that we had been with the men whom we sustained by our labor, but we can never be ashamed.

It has been an inspiring thing to be here in the midst of fine men who had aurred aside from every private interest of their own to devote their whole of their trained capacity to the tasks that supplied the sinews of the whole great undertaking. The patriotism, the unselfishness, the thorough-going devotion and distinguished capacity that marked their toilsome labors, day after day month after month, have made them fit mates and comrades of the men in the trenches and on the sea. And not the mere hero in Washington only. They have but directed the vast achievement. Through the mind and memory of the innumerable farms, in the depths of coal mines and iron mines and copper mines, wherever the stuffs of industry were to be obtained and prepared, in the ship yards, on the railroads, at the docks, on the sea, in every labor that was needed to sustain the battle lines, men have lived with each other to do their part and do it well. They can look any man at arms in the face and say, we also strove to win and gave the best that was in us to their fleets and armies sure of their triumph.

And what shall we say of the women—of their instant intelligence, quickening every task that they touched, their capacity for organization and co-operation which gave their action discipline and enhanced the effectiveness of every thing they attempted. Their aptitude at tasks to which they had never before set their hands; their utter self-sacrifice alike in what they did and in what they gave. Their contribution to the great results is beyond appraisal. They have added a new lustre to the annals of American womanhood.

The least tribute we can pay them is to make them the equals of men in political rights as they have proved them selves their equals in every field of practical work they have entered, whether for themselves or for their country. These great days of completed achievement would be sadly marred were we to omit that act of justice. Besides the immense practical services they have rendered the women of the country have been the moving spirit in the systematic economics by which our people have voluntary assisted to supply the suffering peoples of the world and the armies upon every front with food nad everything else that we had that might serve the common cause. The details of such a story can never be fully written but we carry them at our hearts and thank God that we can say that we are the kindest of such.

And now we are on the eve of the triumph for which every sacrifice was made. It has come, come in its completeness, and with the pride and inspiration of these days of achievement quick within us to turn to the task of peace again—a peace secure against the violence of irresponsible monarchs and ambitious military coterie and made ready for a new order, for new foundations of justice and fair dealing.

"We are about to give order and organization to this peace not only for ourselves but for the other people of the world as well, as far as they may suffice us to serve the ends of international justice that we seek, not domestic safety, merely. Our thoughts have dwelt of late upon Europe, upon Asia, upon the near and Far East, very little on the acts of peace and accommodation that wait to be performed at our own doors. While we are adjusting our relations with the rest of the world is it not of capital importance that we should clear away all ground of misunderstanding with our immediate neighbors and give proof of the friendship we rankle over. I hope that the members of the senate will permit me to speak once more of the unratified treaty of friendship and adjustment with the republic of Columbia. I very earnestly urge them an early and favorable action upon that vital matter. I believe that they will feel with me that the stage of affairs is now set for such action as will be not only just but generous and in the spirit of the new age upon which we have so happily entered."

"So far as our domestic affairs are concerned, the problem of our return to peace is a problem of economic and industrial readjustment. That problem is less serious for us than it may turn out to be for the nations which have suffered the disarrangements and the losses of war longer than we. Our people, moreover, do not want to be coached and led. They know their own business, are quick and resourceful at every readjustment, definite in purpose and resolute in action. Any leading strings we might seek to put them in would quickly become hopelessly tangled because the world pays no attention to them and to their way. All that we can do as their legislative and executive servants is to mediate the process of change here, there and elsewhere as we may. I have heard much counsel as to the plans that should be formed and personally conducted to a happy consummation but from no quarters have I seen any general scheme of reconstruction emerge which I, though it likely were forced our spirit business men and self reliant laborers to accept with due pliancy and obedience."

"While the war lasted we set up many agencies by which to direct the judiciary of the country in the services it was necessary for them to render by which to make sure of an abundant supply of the materials needed, by which to check undertakings that would for the time be dispensed with and stimulate those that were most serviceable in war, by which to gain for the purchasing departments of the government a certain control over the prices of essential articles and materials, by which to restrain trade with alien enemies, make the most of the available shipping and systematic financial transactions both public and private, so that there will be no unnecessary conflict or confusion with which the government can inflict injury on the country in harness to draw the common load and make of us one team in the accomplishment of a great task. But the moment we knew the armistice to have been signed we took the harness off raw materials upon which the government had kept its hand for fear there should not be enough for the industries that supplied the armies have been released and put into the general market again. Great industrial plants whose whole output and machinery had been taken over for the war have been released and have been set free to return to the uses to which they were put before the war. It has not been possible to remove so readily the control of foodstuffs and of shipping because the world has still to be fed from our granaries and the ships are still needed to send supplies to our men overseas and to bring the men back as fast as the disturbed conditions on the other side of the water permits, but even these restraints are being relaxed as much as possible and more and more as the weeks go by."

"Never before have there been agencies in existence in this country which knew so much of the field of supply, of labor and of industry as the war industries board, the war trade board, the labor department, the food administration and the food administration have known since their labors became thoroughly systematized. And they have not been isolated agencies; they have been directed by men which represented the permanent departments of the government and so have been the centers unified and co-operative action. It has been the policy of the executive, therefore, since the armistice was assured to put the knowledge of these bodies at the disposal of the business men of the country and to offer their intelligent mediation at every point and in every matter where it was desired. It is surprising how fast the process of return to a peace footing has moved in the three weeks since the fighting stopped. It promises to outrun any inquiry that may be instigated and any aid that may be desired. It will not be easy to direct it any better than it will direct itself. The American business man is of quick initiative."

"The ordinary and normal process of private initiative will not, however, provide immediate employment for all of the men or our returning armies. Those who are of training capacity, those who are skilled working men, those who have acquired familiarity with established businesses, those who are ready and willing to go to the service of those whose aptitudes who are known or who may be sought out by employers will find no difficulty, it is safe to say, in finding place and employment.

"But there will be others who will be at a loss where to gain a livelihood unless pains are taken to guide them and put them in the way of work. There will be a large floating residuum of labour which should not be left wholly to shift for itself. It seems to me important, therefore, that the development of suitable plots of every sort should be promptly resorted to in order that opportunities should be created for skilled labour in particular and that plans should be made for such development of our unused lands and our natural resources as we have hitherto lacked stimulation to undertake."

I particularly direct your attention to the very practical plans which the secretary of the interior has developed in his annual report and before your committee for the reclamation of arid swamps and cut-over lands. I might, if the states were willing and able to co-operate, redeem some three hundred and million acres of land for cultivation. There are said to be fifteen or twenty million acres of land in the west at present arid, for whose reclamation water is available, if properly conserved. There are about two hundred and thirty million acres from which the forests have been cut but which have never yet been cleared for the plow and which lie scattered all over the union. And there are nearly eighty million acres of land lie under swamp or subject to continual overflow or too wet for anything but grazing, which it is perfectly feasible to drain and protect and be redeemed. The congress can at once direct thousands of returning soldiers to the reclamation of the arid lands which it has already undertaken if it will but enlarge the plans and the appropriations which have been entrusted to the department of the interior. It is possible in dealing with our unused land to effect a great rural and agricultural department which will afford the best sort of opportunity to men who want to help themselves and the secretary of the interior has thought the possible methods out in a way which is worthy of your most friendly attention.

I have spoken of the control which must yet for awhile, perhaps for a long while, be exercised over shipping because of the priority of service to which our forces overseas are entitled and which should also be accorded the shipyards which are to save recently-liberated places from starvation and many devastated regions from permanent ruin. May I not say something more about the needs of Belgium and northern France? No sums of money paid by way of indemnity will serve of themselves to save them from hopeless disadvantage for years to come. Something more must be done than merely find the money. If they had money and raw materials in abundance tomorrow they could not resume their place in the industry of the world tomorrow, the very important place they held before the flame of war swept across them. Many of their factories are razed to the ground.

"Much of their machinery is destroyed or has been taken away. Their people are scattered and many of their best workmen are dead. Their markets will be taken by others, if they are not in some special way assisted to rebuild their factories and replace their lost instruments of manufacture. They should not be left to the consequences of the sharp competition for materials and for new facilities which is now to set in. Help, therefore, that the congress will be an unwilling, if it should become necessary to grant to some such agency as the war trade board the right to establish priorities of export and supply for the benefit of these people whom we have been so happy to assist in saving from the German terror and who we must not now thoughtless leave to shift for themselves in a pitiless competitive market."

52 ELK DEAD ARE HONORED SUNDAY

Names of Seven Who Died In Past Year Engraved On Tablet

SERVICES ARE IMPRESSIVE

Eulogy by W. W. Gard and Memorial Address by Frank Rubrecht

Beautiful and impressive memorial services were held by Newark Lodge of Elks, No. 391, E. P. O. E., Sunday afternoon in the large Auditorium theater being filled to capacity. The services are an annual custom held by Elk lodges all over the United States on the first Sunday in each December in memory of those members who have crossed the border and entered into the realms of eternity, the local lodge having 52 names on its memorial tablet.

The stage-setting this year was planned and built by Mandel Brashears, esteemed leading knight, assisted by Tyler Charles Allen. It consisted of a large monument with high base on the face of which was carved the name of the seven members of the lodge who had died during the past year—Daniel Dietrich, J. W. Hursey, Paul S. Collins, J. H. Mattingly, J. W. Braddock, C. M. Hare and H. A. Hall. Along the base were placed potted plants and ferns; and an American flag fell from the base-releif.

At 2:30 o'clock the Elks marched into the Auditorium in a body and were assigned seats at the front which had been reserved for them. The Auditorium orchestra rendered "Oward Christian Soldier." After the members had been seated the orchestra rendered "The Star-Spangled Banner."

"Hark! Hark! The Strains of Music" was sung by a quartet from Columbus—Mrs. Edward W. Harrington, soprano; Miss Corrine Lorhus, alto; Charles Dutcher, tenor; Whitney Maze, bass. Mrs. William H. Offenburger being the accompanist. This was followed by the opening services, conducted by Exalted Ruler Harry D. Hale, assisted by the officers of the lodge. The invocation was given by Rev. G. Bohon Schmitt, and a solo by Mrs. Harrington, "Like As the Heart Desireth," followed.

Then came the roll-call of the honored dead by the secretary, R. L. Rhodes, and as each name was pronounced the name on the monument faded from view or the last one disappeared a scroll or curtain covered the space on which was printed "Our Absent Brothers."

"Face to Face" was then rendered by Frank Ewald in a most pleasant manner. Further services followed the exalted ruler and others followed the quartet then rendering "The King of Love My Shepherd Is."

W. W. Gard, treasurer of Newark Lodge, next delivered the eulogy. He said:

We are assembled here today—this Sunday—to meet with one another in our common family, to review and to mingle with the immortal spirits of our brothers who have passed to that Great Beyond—that "beautiful land of somewhere."

It is so delightfully befitting that Elks particularly, should inaugurate, set apart, and so generally maintain the first Sunday in December of each year as the time to amalgamate the thoughts of the absent brothers.

We learn from our ritual that the hour of eleven is the hallowed hour and that wherever an Elk may roam, when the toll of eleven has faded away in the clouds of heaven—it is then that due reverence, to the spirits of the departed, we have "loved and lost awhile."

And to those who have passed to the Great Beyond—to the land of the hereafter—let me address to you a fond and affectionate greeting, sending to you a message of salutation full of affection and appreciation, for the truth that each one of you was a man—a royal-hearted man—and that each one of you, regardless of your vocation or station in life, left to the world a cherished something that time or the elements cannot erase or destroy.

I address these words of tender and reverent affection to you, our "absent brothers," whose faults we wrote upon the sands and whose virtues we have indelibly carved on the granite tablets of "love and memory."

"The Perfect Prayer," a solo by Mr. Maize, followed the eulogy. Frank Rubrecht of Columbus gave the memorial address. He told of how the order was founded and the principles for which it stands, and the untold good which it has done for humanity. He also spoke of the work played by Elksdom in the war world-wide, which participated in 30,000 men belonging to the order. Over $1,000,000 was subscribed by subordinate lodges for Liberty loan bonds—$300,000 was given to the Red Cross and $100,000 to the Y. M. C. A. Over $300,000 was given to other war relief organizations and to reconstruction hospitals, costing $1,000,000 each, are being completed in the United States—one at Boston and the other at New Orleans. Two base hospitals of 2000 beds each have been completed in France and are maintained by Elks contributing to the grand lodge for that purpose. The speaker closed by paying an eloquent tribute to the soldier boys in the field of gratitude and valor.

The quartet rendered "Peace I Leave With You," "Auld Lang Syne" was sung by the members, and the benediction by Rev. Geo. Bohon Schmitt brought the services to a close.

face of Paul Collins, looking out of the door? And could we go and stand where we all have seen them, one more prominent than the other, each with some illumined quality possessed in life which he has left to us as a cherished legacy?

And there is another memory which is near and dear to us this day, the recognition of which is most befitting. It is the memory of the boys who were with us once and who today, praise God, have everyone been spared to come back to us. It is the memory of the 29 boys from this lodge, who are wearing the uniform of these great United States. They have served in all the battlefields and have represented, truly and well, this country, this city, and this Lodge.

"To this memory let us add the memory of 15 boys, sons of members who in honor the heartfelt appreciation of this Lodge for the glorious service that they have rendered.

Just a year ago we heard the theme, from that peerless statesman, that memory was God's greatest gift to man. It is by and through the virtue of memory we come in close communion with that which is infinite and immortal. It brings us in closest harmony with the divine plan and into the sphere of realization and thought wherein dwell the spirits of our departed.

Today we are assembled here together to meet in our common family, to join through the agency of memory in the joyous associations with those who are near and dear to us.

And to the families of those who have gone let me, on behalf of this Lodge say, that we cannot refrain from assuring you of our sincere sympathy, offering to you the thought that we can all splendidly trust in God in life, no matter what the vicissitudes, if we but trust that we are drawn nearer to Him and by and through Him, to those we have "loved and lost awhile."

And to those who have passed to the Great Beyond—to the land of the hereafter—let me address to you a fond and affectionate greeting, sending to you a message of salutation full of affection and appreciation, for the truth that each one of you was a man—a royal-hearted man—and that each one of you, regardless of your vocation or station in life, left to the world a cherished something that time or the elements cannot erase or destroy.

END OF CENSORSHIP.

American newspapers have just passed through an interesting phase of their experience, in the censorship on certain forms of war news, which has now been ended. It testifies to the honor of the newspaper fraternity that so few newspapers have broken the requirements of this censorship, in revealing troops movements and other military facts.

To a newspaper man who got hold of an interesting piece of military news, there was a tremendous temptation to use it. He makes his bread and butter by the collecting and printing of news. To ask him not to print anything he gets hold of, is like asking a farmer not to sell his grain or a manufacturer to give away his product.

Many newspaper people who got hold of military news might often argue that the publication of it would make no difference. They would figure that the German spies probably knew it already. Yet in spite of this feeling and the temptation to use such news, little complaint is made that the newspapers broke faith. It has been just the same in this as in all phases of newspaper work. Newspaper people know a great deal they never print, and few of them break a confidence.

This good faith in the long run is good policy for newspapers. The reporter who breaks it may score a few interesting scoops. But he destroys his reputation for trustworthiness and ends by having few friends.

Censorship is unwelcome to the American mind. Under a free press many wrong and foolish things are said. Yet these hurt the people who say them more than anyone else. And the free press exposes an enormous amount of wrong done, and is a terror to dishonest people. The free press is a community police force.

WHAT TO DO WITH BILL.

One of the favorite topics of conversation just now is as to what should be done with William Hohenzollern, emperor of Germany. Various degrees of penalty are discussed, the most merciful of which is usually death.

It is a very big question and people in responsible positions are thinking hard and not saying much about it. We made this war primarily because Germany broke international law. We must be careful to have all our acts in accordance with legalized customs of nations.

The parallel that comes to everyone's mind is the confinement for life of Napoleon Bonaparte on the island of St. Helena. This penalty was not exacted out of revenge or to expiate his crimes. It was imposed because men saw nothing but war in sight so long as he was a free man.

Similarly the Kaiser and his friends will always be plotting for him to get back to the throne of Germany. Some observers are claiming already that the majority of the Germans favor his restoration. If the mass of the Germans have become thoroughly sick of monarchical government, the danger represented by the Kaiser will be much less. Still there will always be the chance that a revolution of popular feeling will bring him back to power hustling for revenge.

International authorities are looking up the question whether the extradition of the Kaiser can be demanded from Holland. It would hardly be worth while to make war on Holland to require his surrender, but other forms of diplomatic pressure would no doubt accomplish the same end. Before the allied powers retire from German soil, they must consider the Kaiser's future very carefully. He will be a peril as long as he lives. He abundantly merits the death penalty. The trouble is that when you begin to impose this punishment, many others equally deserve it.

Parents who fear their boys in college won't get much education under present conditions of military training, may be assured that there will be a big baseball season next spring.

Food prices have gone up 16 per cent in the last year, says government report, and the farmers are trying hard to look as depressed as usual.

Soap being reported to cost more, the boys have kindly consented to economize in the use of it.

There is no objections to letting the Germans have as much food as they gave our prisoners.

The leading exponent of the Safety First movement just now is Kaiser Bill.

VIVA L'ITALIA.

(By W. H. Johnson, Professor of Latin, Denison University.)

There are Italians still living to whom, in their youth, the word Italy means a name. The peninsula that once formed the nucleus and the ruling center of the greatest empire the ancient world had ever seen was torn into fragments, the victim of the conflicting ambition and wanton oppression of outside powers. Now and then the buried fire of patriotism would break through to the surface, but only to be drenched out with the blood of Italian patriots. A wretched condition was hardly to be found in all Europe than under the sunny skies of Italy.

Towards the middle of the last century, however, there arose in the little kingdom of Piedmont, up against the Alps at the head of the Po, one of the greatest statesmen of modern times, Cavour. The leaven of liberty took hold of him even in boyhood, and his bold ideas of reform placed him under the cloud of suspicion with his own family, his friends, and the officials of the government. Opposition only fixed his mind more firmly upon the reforms he felt very needed, however, and when he yet a comparatively young man we see him rising to the head of the Piedmontese ministry and building up the prosperity and influence of his country by wise measures not handed down from an autocratic throne, but enacted by the most democratic parliament in existence on the continent of Europe.

No man in Italy had a deeper passion for Italian freedom and unity than he, and when the appointed hour struck, in 1859, was his sound judgment that brought substantial success out of the romantic uprising started in Sicily by Garibaldi. Almost before the outside world knew what was going on in Italy except the papal holdings about Rome and the Austrian possessions at the north was again united. Ten years more saw Italy again in her historic capital at Rome, with Lombardy and Venetia, Milan and Venice, once more in the fold. Only the "Trentino" and the historically Italian lands under foreign domination. In the recent Italian drive westward and northward from the Po, the Austrian invader was hurled out of the regions, too, and "Italia irredenta" at last实现了. The ancient borders of sunny Italy are again established, and the dream of Mazzini and Garibaldi, the calculated purpose of Cavour, is now a reality.

The world wishes Italy well. Within the lifetime of men who were not too young to have worn the red shirt of Garibaldi's famous thousand, the Italians have built up a great power, and the world knew what was going on in Italy except the papal holdings about Rome and the Austrian possessions at the north was again united. ## TO AVOID AND RELIEVE INFLUENZA

BY DR. FRANKLIN DUANE.
Many people have been frightened by what they have read or heard of influenza. The more you fear the disease, the surer you are to get it. Go right about your business and forget it. As the disease is spread principally by contact through sneezing, coughing or spitting, many health authorities have advised that everyone wear a gauze, which is well washed and saturated with a one to five hundredth solution of zinc sulphate in water, and then dry before wearing over the nose and mouth. You should avoid crowds, common drinking cups and public towels. Keep your strength up by taking lots of exercise in the open air and plenty of nourishing food.

If you have any of such symptoms as chilliness, nasal obstructions, flushed face, headache, restlessness, weakness, or irritating cough, give up work at once and go to bed. This will give your strength to overcome the disease. Put your nose under water for fifteen minutes. Thoroughly loosen the bowels with some such mild and non-irritating physic as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Drink principally of hot lemonade and then cover-up with plenty of clothes in bed so as to get a good sweat. When sweating is free and the fever reduced take a dose of two Anuric Tablets every four hours, followed by drinking at least a glass or two of hot water. Anuric Tablets help quickly to relieve the soreness of the muscles and bones from which most patients complain and help the kidneys flush out the poisons.

To relieve nasal obstruction and excessive discharge from the nose, probably nothing is better than such a mild, soothing, antiseptic wash as Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It will give great relief. Employed as a gargle, in same strength as made up for use in the nose, and as hot as can be borne, it quickly arrests soreness and dryness in the throat.

Influenza weakens the patient's resistance to disease, so that there is danger of pneumonia and meningitis developing. The logical remedy is to fortify the patient's strength and insist that he keep in bed at least two days. Probably nothing will at this stage hasten the recovery and strengthen the patient more than an iron-tonic tablet called "Ironite" or that well known herbal tonic, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which has been used by thousands in the past two generations.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

BIG SHELLS COME TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT

Detailed account, which took place on the day of the signing of the armistice, have been received in a letter written by Paul Davis of the 112th ammunition train, 37th division on November 11 to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Davis of Hudson.

In a letter he stated:

"La Guerre Finest—All hostilities ceased at 11 o'clock this morning. I was just behind my gun, when the command was given to stop firing. For 12 hours before we fired as fast as we could load but when 11 o'clock came the firing stopped on the second. The Germans cheered themselves hoarse over the treat. In the afternoon for two weeks we have been busy delivering ammunition night and day, often under fire of the German guns. But none of the shells ever hit our trucks, but in my case too close for comfort."

"It certainly is a relief to go around without the helmet and gas masks. I feel that the Germans came over to our trenches an hour or so after the armistice was signed and that they and our doughboys had a party. Henry finished the beer and our boys the hot soup. The first the Germans had had for some time. We are located in a sector, so our men cleaned up the Germans recently, and are billeted in a village recently occupied by them. The buildings are blown to pieces by the shells and at present I am in one of the buildings which was partially blown down. I have a fire and am comfortable."

"The French people went wild with joy, the bells rang and you could see them collecting in little groups. I saw several regiments of French artillery on their way back, and they were certainly happy, after facing death for four years, and then coming out victorious."

"Now that the lighting is over and a peace peace, I suppose I think God he watched over and protected me. It will probably be four or five months before we are back, but it will be a happy and delighted crowd that will step down the gang plank back into the good old U.S.A."

GRANVILLE

(Special to the Advocate)

Granville, Dec. 2.—"Our Date in the Present Crisis," will prove of interest to this patriotic community as presented by Dr. S. Parks Cadman in the Baptist church auditorium Tuesday evening December 3. Every one will wish to hear this renowned teacher, lecturer and author who comes to Granville under the auspices of the Community Church Council, Tuesday at 8 o'clock p.m.

About 60 members are enrolled in the Community Training school, which meets again Tuesday evening for its third session. This meeting will afford the last opportunity for enrollment and no Bible school worker should miss it. The hour for this week only, has been set for 6:45.

Rev. Clarence Eddy of Zanesville, who has been quite ill at his home with an attack of influenza, is reported as safely convalescent by his father-in-law, Rev. C. N. Hartford.

Mrs. Mary Rawley and Florence Chubbuck, former Shepardson College girls, members of Sigma Delta Phi sorority, have been Granville visitors for several days.

Atmosphere of the Women's Music club will attend chorale rehearsal in Recital hall the evening of Dec. 30 for the annual presentation of "The Messiah," scheduled at the usual time, just before the Christmas holiday.

The flu interfered with the rehearsals for several weeks, and now some intensive work is called for, in order to prepare for the concert. It is felt that Christmas would lack much of the real Christmas spirit if the community should be denied this annual musical treat which for many years has been provided by the Festival Association.

Frank Eschman will welcome recruits, and there are many singers in town and country familiar with the score, who should lend their voices once more in proclaiming the glad tidings of the coming of the Peace.

Reservations for the Music Course of the Festival Association begin this afternoon at 3:30 at Ullman's. If you are unable to be present, send your tickets and seats will be reserved for you.

Prof. F. G. Detweiler, business manager, is in charge of the board.

While many patrons prefer certain sections, it is a fact that there are no poor seats in the auditorium. It will be possible to secure good seats for small amounts.

Oscar Seagle, baritone, and Karlbiel Manuel, soprano, will open the splendid course on Wednesday evening in the Baptist auditorium at 8:15.

The Festival Association was incorporated "not for profit" thirteen years ago, and during that time has maintained a high standard of musical excellence. The trustees of the association are Messrs. J. C. Campbell, President C. W. Chamberlain, A. H. Heisey, James A. Huston, J. S. Jones, and C. B. White, all of whom have approved the season's program of five notable concerts.

Dr. Ernesto and his younger son Charles are both confined to their beds, with an attack of throat trouble.

George Whiting, a former postmaster at Granville was in the village a few days last week. Mr. Whiting is talking of locating again in Granville. Mrs. Emma Rainsower of Columbus is visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Kussmaul in South Prospect street.

Dr. J. W. Rohrer will go to Columbus tomorrow for the meeting of the Ohio State Dental Society to be held at Hotel Deshler, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Helen Grandstaff will spend the winter at the home of her father, A. C. Grandstaff in East College street.

A CITY CUT OFF.

The East Ohio Gas Company gave notice that it would discontinue supply to the Alliance Gas and Power Company when its contract expires on Oct. 30. When the city solicitor of Alliance appeared before the public utilities commission to resist the shutting off of gas, the attorney for the East Ohio Gas Company declared its purpose to give an adequate supply to a limited number of customers rather than an inadequate supply to all customers.

The most serious situation is that of the natural gas men who are failing to tap new sources of supply to offset the exhaustion of fields both in Ohio and West Virginia.

Over 70 per cent of all Ohioans use natural gas for light, heat and cooking. Many towns will have to return to coal for heating and coal gas or kerosene for lighting.

The Distributors Agree.

Each of the great distributors of natural gas has warned its consumers that the pools are giving out; each has through the newspapers plead with its customers to stop wasteful methods in the use of gas, and the ill informed have said:

"This is a trick to get a boost in price."

The flow has declined in all fields.

A country can reproduce a forest for a supply of timber but to get a new supply of natural gas it will be necessary to create a new earth, and then tap it.

Martin B. Daly, president of the East Ohio Gas Company, which supplies all of northeastern Ohio, in a letter to the mayor of Cleveland, in 1917, said: "We now express the opinion that we have probably delivered the maximum amount of gas to Cleveland which we will ever be able to deliver. Any relief from the conditions of last winter must therefore be had through auxiliary appliances for the use of coal or other fuel between Nov. 1 and March 1."

In June of this year Mr. Daly, in a substituting coal gas.

The Union Gas and Electric Company of Cincinnati found it necessary to build a coal (producer) gas plant with a capacity of 15,000,000 feet a day to supplement the supply of natural gas.

The Medina Natural Gas Company, which supplies a string of cities and towns clear across the center of Ohio, has given odd but conclusive evidence that it wishes to reduce the consumption of the commodity it sells by inverting its rates. Instead of reducing the price to large users it makes them 50 cents for 25,000, 60 cents for the next 5,000, and 70 cents for all over 30,000.

The expert of the Public Utilities Commission, after a protracted survey of the Ohio fields, two years ago, said in his report:

"I have no hope of improved supply of natural gas next winter, but I do hope for such publicity as will place the real facts before the public."

THE MARKETS

Wall Street.

New York, Dec. 2—Heavy losses of securities created some unsettlement in the general list in the first half hour of today's stock market. Speculatively issues such as Lucknow Steel, Royal Dutch Oil and beet sugar lost 1½ to 2 points. Shipping was moderately bad with Studebaker, U. S. Rubber, American Woolen and American Sugar, but U. S. Steel and high grade rails showed no pronounced tendency to decline.

The market, settled down to extreme dullness in the first hour, was failing to issue new commitments under the publication of the presidential outline of congress.

Shipments, motors and a few of the prominent securities, reacted while steel, copper and oil made irregular movements. Just before midday trading quickened, in taking the lead of another brisk demand for Southern Pacific and Reading. Liberty Bond's registered another low record at 96 ¾.

"The market is still to go around without the helmet and gas mask. I feel that the Germans came over to our trenches an hour or so after the armistice was signed and that they and our doughboys had a party. Henry finished the beer and our boys the hot soup. The first the Germans had had for some time. We are located in a sector, so our men cleaned up the Germans recently, and are billeted in a village recently occupied by them. The buildings are blown to pieces by the shells and at present I am in one of the buildings which was partially blown down. I have a fire and am comfortable."

"The French people went wild with joy, the bells rang and you could see them collecting in little groups. I saw several regiments of French artillery on their way back, and they were certainly happy, after facing death for four years, and then coming out victorious."

"Now that the lighting is over and a peace peace, I suppose I think God he watched over and protected me. It will probably be four or five months before we are back, but it will be a happy and delighted crowd that will step down the gang plank back into the good old U.S.A."

army aeroplane from the Wright field at Dayton, to the war trophy exposition at Pittsburgh, Pa., was forced to descend west of this city on the Weirish farm on account of darkness.
He made the trip from Dayton in 12 minutes and was only 12 miles from home when he telephoned to Dayton Saturday night for parts of his engine and a second aeroplane arrived at 11:30 o'clock this morning. The two machines will proceed to Pittsburgh later. Leslie Groves of South Fifth street furnished high grade oils for the machines before their departure for the Smoky City.

ARREST YOUTH WITH STOLEN AUTOMOBILE

Patrolmen Wm. Hinger and James
Donnelly noticed two young men, one white and the other colored, acting in a suspicious manner near a Ford automobile and when they started off with it
they placed them under arrest. They took them to the patrol station and looked up the number of the automobile registered to E. N. Phillips of Reynoldsburg.
The officers called Columbus and learned that the machine had been stolen in that city.

The boys, both aged 17, were locked
up in the city jail late Saturday afternoon and returned with them in the evening. Chief Jas. Sheridan and the two officers secured a confession from
them and they also told of stealing two

NEWARK NOW HAS NEW YORK HIT

Old Song Called "It's Never Too Late To Be Sorry."

A new song has just appeared, which bids fair to rival many of the modern love tunes. It is called "It's Never Too Late to Be Sorry," and is a tribute to women's loyalty.

Some of the lines of the song are quite poetical. One verse runs:

CAPTAIN BLUE MADE NAVIGATION CHIEF

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Dec. 2.—Captain Victor Blue, now commanding the superreadnaught Texas, has been selected for detail as chief of the bureau of navigation with rank of rear admiral. He was chief of the bureau for four years, ending in August, 1916, when he was assigned to sea duty. Admiral David Taylor was eliminated for another tour of duty as chief constructor of the navy.

QUAKE IS RECORDED.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, Dec. 2.—An earthquake of moderate intensity, estimated to have been centered about 2,900 miles from Washington, was recorded this morning on the seismographs at Georgetown university. The shocks began at 4:55 a.m.
and continued about an hour.

PYTHIANS PLAN TO ATTEND PEACE MEET

At a meeting held Sunday in Phytian Castle attended by representatives from five Pythian lodges of the county arrangements were completed to attend the peace meeting at Columbus on Sunday, December 15.

It is expected that the county will be represented by at least 1,500 in the big parade which will take place at 1:30 p.m., starting from Memorial Hall. Delegations from the various lodges will heartily support the work of the Pythians and attend the meeting.

Lodges will plan their own trip and will meet at Memorial Hall, Columbus, not later than 1:00 o'clock to take their places in the line of march. The Buckeye band will lead the Licking delegation. At the big Benevola meeting held in Columbus a year or so ago Licking county was more largely represented than was even Franklin county.

E. L. Schmidt has been chosen as grand marshal for this county.

EMPLOYEES' DEMANDS ENDORSED BY LABOR

At a mass meeting of city officials and labor representatives held Sunday in Zanesville the meeting endorsed the demand of the employees of the Ohio Electric power house for an increase in wages. Only the promise of a definite increase averted a strike which had been planned. The men asked for increased wages and the company wants to charge a 6-cent fare.

or Lieutenant Thynnes would have taken him a joy-ride.

Only One Offender.

Only one offender faced Mayor Atherton in police court today—a lone drunk —who was given $5 and the costs and in default of payment was sent back to the

Pastors' Will Meet.

The pastors of the city will meet Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock in the social room of the First Baptist church for important business. Entrance: Granville street door.

Condition Improves.

The condition of Charles Norris of Bremen, who is at the City hospital, is satisfactory. Norris was seriously injured Thanksgiving morning. He is suffering from a compound fracture of the left leg and a fracture at the base of the skull.

Birth Announcement.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kenneth Dunham, at the former's home in Cleveland, Thanksgiving day, a fourpound girl. Mrs. Dunham was Miss Leila Barcus of Newark.

Honorably Discharged.

Sergeant William F. Lavin, who has been stationed in the east with the coast artillery, arrived from New York Saturday, where he was honorably discharged by the army.

Purchase Blooded Sire.

H. M. Elliott and sons have added a new sire to their herd of short-horned cattle. He is the Sultan family and a very fine individual.

Utica Corn Show.

The Utica institute and corn show will be held at the town hall, Utica, December 11 and 12. Washington and adjoining townships are eligible for the corn show.

Lightning Calculation.

An eminent electrician has figured out the horsepower of a lightning flash.
The amount of light given by a single lightning flash is sufficient to illuminate an area two miles square with an average illumination of one candle.
To produce such an illumination, he estimates, the expenditure of 13,000 horse power for one second would be required.

been the wonder of women, men and children in maintaining health and vigor. George Grindstaff, Decville, Tenn., writes: "I was all run-down in health, and it seemed nothing would help me. I wanted something to try. I tried Native Herb Tablets. I am thankful for this wonderful remedy, because I am enjoying good health." Don't delay taking Bliss Native Herb Tablets. There is nothing to fear except getting the cure.

ARREST YOUTH WITH STOLEN AUTOMOBILE

Patrolmen Wm. Hinger and James
Donnelly noticed two young men, one
white and the other colored, acting in a suspicious manner near a Ford automobile and when they started off with it
they placed them under arrest. They took
them to the patrol station and looked
up the number of the automobile registered to E. N. Phillips of Reynoldsburg.

The officers called Columbus and learned that the machine had been stolen in
that city.

The boys, both aged 17, were locked
up in the city jail late Saturday afternoon and returned with them in the evening. Chief Jas. Sheridan and the two officers secured a confession from
them and they also told of stealing two other cars in the Capital city.

AMUSEMENTS

AUDITORIUM.

Saturday Night's Show.
"A Night in Honolulu" was the bill at the Auditorium, Saturday afternoon and evening, playing to an excellent audience. It was a melodrama in three acts and proved very pleasing, the Imperial Hawaiians rendering a vocal and instrumental program in the second act. The dancing of the young women was excellent, but the male leads could be improved by a study in voice culture.

Tonight.

The "Polynesian" stories, born of the pen of Eleanor R. Porter of Boston, has brought more happiness into the world than any literature in years. And dramatization of Catherine Cushing's incidents to the joy of "Polynesian" herself, is a little girl, the daughter of a minister in a remote rural district. The church of which her father is the pastor is very poor and the family, for existence, has to depend largely on barrels of clothing and provisions sent by the Ladies' Aid society of a rich city church. It is out of these barrels that Polynesian has derived all her Christmas presents, although often times the barrels yield only the practical things of life. For instance, Polynesian once set her heart on becoming the possessor of a doll. She longed to mother a doll. But when the barrel came, instead of what she had hoped and prayed for, there came a pair of crutches.

The play "Polynesian" has been one of the greatest hits in years. It has brightened the lives of old and young. It is a play for everybody with human emotions. Madge Balfamy the wonderful little actress, with whom Klaw & Erlanger and George C. Tyler last summer made a long-time contract, will play the part of Polynesian in this city, when the play of the same name will be presented at the Auditorium theater this evening.

"Darktown Follies."

The attraction at the Auditorium theater tomorrow night will be Bernard's big wonder show, "The Darktown Follies," presenting their newest offering "Dixie to Broadway," with Broadway ideas, novelties, songs, costumes, and all that goes to make a Broadway production, with a classy chorus not overlooking the comical comedians, which is entirely different from anything ever attempted by a show of this character.

The story dealing with "From Dixie to Broadway" contains plenty of laughing situations, two happy-go-lucky tricksters who are "in wrong" all the time. The complicated situations as they arise will be sure to cause continuous laughter. Seats are now selling.

"Woman and Wife." With Alice Hardy is to be the picture feature at the Auditorium next Wednesday. This is a Select Picture corporation feature, and Miss Hardy is seen in elaborate wardrobe, the settings are gorgeous and a really clever cast of players support her:

"Salome." The story that was Judea forty years before the time of Christ—and the shame of it—are mirrored in mise en scene in what is said to be the greatest screen achievement of William Fox. "Salome," which will have its first presentation in this city at the Auditorium theater on Thursday afternoon, is said to reproduce scenes of old Jerusalem with a fidelity that, as a New York writer puts it, "brings to us, even as if wafted inevitably by the sturdy branches of the forest of Lebanon, the scent and savor of a day when passions uncurled and might was right."

This atmospheric play, to the locals of which no little new interest attaches on account of the recent occupation of Germany, Allenby and the British in the Holy City (in fact, the very portal through which the detachment passed, the historic Jaffa Gate, is pictured in the play) revolves, of course, around that fascinating yet fearsome personality, "Salome," the siren of the scriptures, who suffered death under the spiked shields of men, when horror broke her spell over them. The celebrated episode which ended her wanton career, the "Dance of the Seven Veils," is an opportunity which, historically as well as scenically, it is naturally assumed is made the most of by the director, J. Gordon Edwards.

The settings of "Salome" are gorgeous in effect and gigantic in size according to architectural precedents, but it is also promised by the producer that there will be belittling or overshadowing of the dramatic interest of the story in consequence. Seats read tomorrow.

LYRIC.

The Byrne & Byrne Musical Comedy company that played to crowded houses at the Lyric theater last season open for a week's engagement today. They have the same good company as when here before. Billie Byrne, the clever female impersonator; Charlie Byrne, the comedian; Jimmie Walters, the singing and dancing juvenile straight man; Hazel Gienens, the soubrette, and the giddy girlie chorus, are better than ever.

Wednesday night will be garter night and Friday night a special feature, "chorus girls dressing contest." Children are admitted now to the theater and this clever company should have packed houses all the week. Change of program every day.

ALHAMBRA.

Tonight and Tomorrow.

The power and influence of the German spy system in America, as revealed by former spy, Capt. Horst von der Goltz, was deeply impressed upon Alhambra theater yesterday to see the big William Fox photo-drama, "The Prussian Cur."

This picture is far more than mere entertainment. It is an education and an inspiration. With master strokes, Director R. A. Walsh has painted his great historical canvas. From the close of the Civil War, he has followed the progress of democracy in America. From the Franco-Prussian war, he has revealed the growth of militarism in Germany. At length the two creeds clash to cripple our efforts in the war. Germany sends her spies throughout the land to destroy our industries and sow the seeds of national discord. The vast panorama moves before the eye in a thrilling series of stupendous and dramatic scenes, which involve the leading figures in both Germany and America.

"The Prussian Cur" will remain at the Alhambra theater tomorrow. It is a play that should be seen by every patriotic American.

Europe marvels that the American soldiers are all clean shavers. Clean fighters, too.
